do not be afraid of fat i can’t say this often or loud enough if you read paleo-archaeology studies, again and again you see that our ancestors were eating brains and breaking open bones in response to criticism levied against her, ford suggests that the 25 market share of children’s books that her publications enjoy is proof that her methods do not harm children at barnes ran additional lab work